

INSURRECTION

Edition No.321
May/21/2012

MAGAZINE

Content

EDITORIAL	3
Again Jumped The Rabbit
AFRICAN PALM: “Not much to Burn the Holy”	6
Author: Luis Carlos Guerrero S.
TLC: Check for the Gringo Military Support	13
Author: R. Vargas
The Vulture Leon Paneta is a Gringo Male	19
Author: Milton Hernandez International Front

After the attack on former Interior Minister Vargas Lleras, the suspect and no accident clarified partner Alvaro Uribe, Pedro Juan Moreno Villa, the death of General Reyes and Landazabal known and influential conservative politician Alvaro Gomes Hurtado, the recent attack where he was wounded terrorist Ex-Minister Fernando Londoño Hoyos, who caused two deaths and several wounded more, because not too many surprises and rather makes clear again, the application of all forms of struggle of the extreme right, both passing on to the insurgency.

This is another demonstration that the extreme right, does not care to proceed against their partners in power, when it comes to carry forward his purposes, and have to sacrifice their own members.

In passing away the chances that the judge justice because the poorly kept secret stays up late and methods that compete with the other mafias.

The hypothesis about the attack where he was wounded Londoño Hoyos, may be related to the car bomb in the neighborhood of Bogotá Eduardo Santos makes sense, when it was determined that in the latter, involving a demobilized guerrilla. It is well known that the demobilized are a number of deals that link in the intelligence services and nothing unusual is that this is one of such cases.

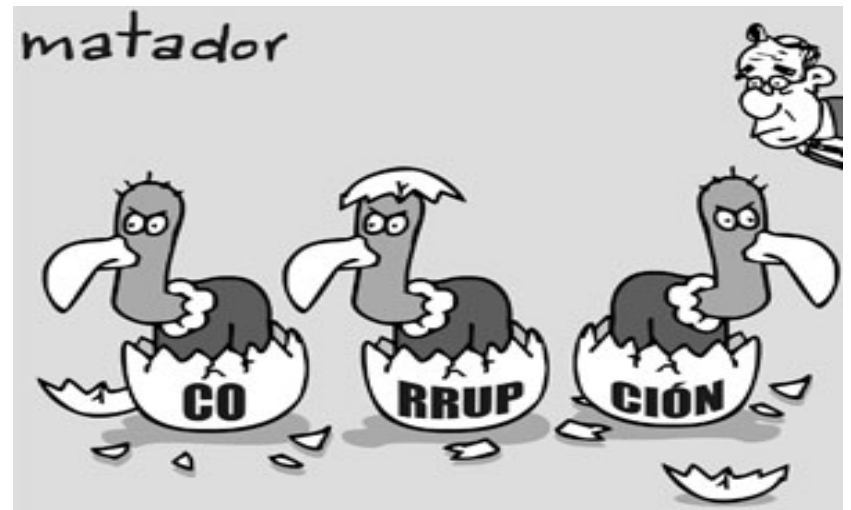

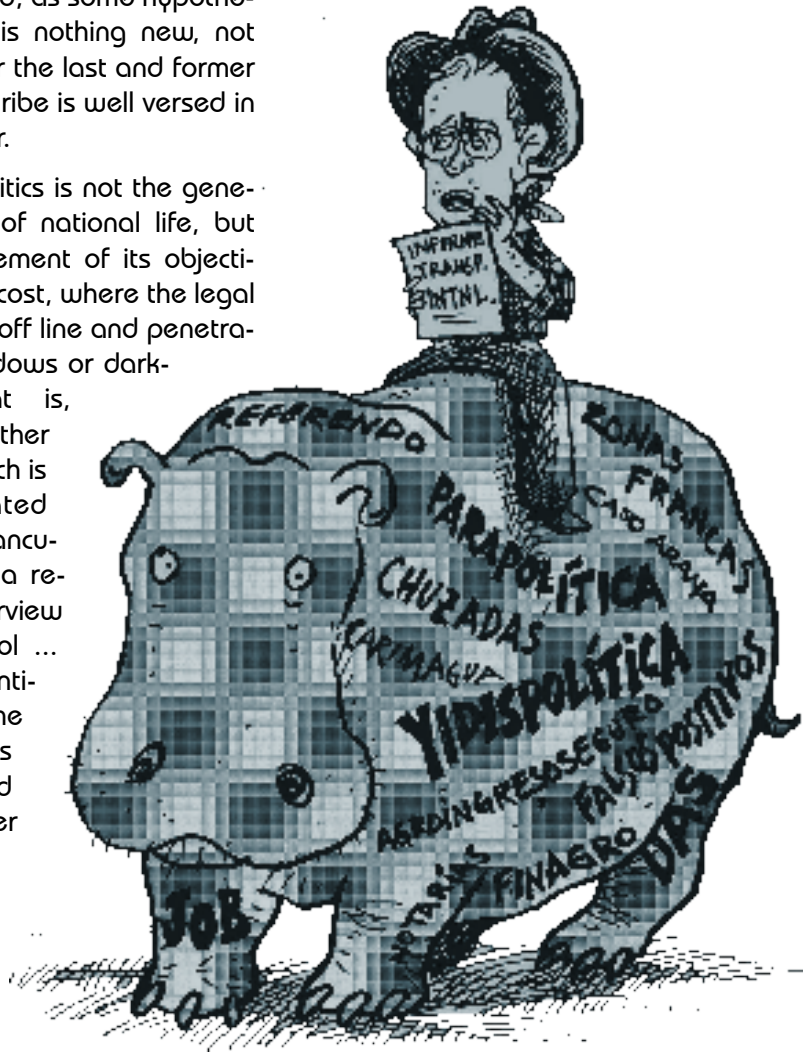

Knowing the illegal, terrorist mafia and former President Uribe, demonstrated many times before he became President, in exercise of their mandates and after them, a lot of attention later to blame the attack on the FARC, when even he dared President Santos.

Generate this type of act to thin the environment, when political events do not fit into their schemes bigoted, as some hypotheses claim, is nothing new, not the first nor the last and former President Uribe is well versed in such matter.

For him politics is not the general course of national life, but the achievement of its objectives at any cost, where the legal and illegal off line and penetrate the shadows or darkness. That is, among other things, which is demonstrated when Mancuso said in a recent interview with Caracol ... "we identified with the candidates nominated by former President Uribe, as the saying goes" for the exhibition of a button."

Showing her grief over the events that caused the injury to the former Minister Londoño Hoyos, President Uribe called him "a pillar of democracy."

Looking at the past of the former minister, are involved in the embezzlement scandal at InverColsa, why this "pillar of democracy" is part of the corruption that has also generated scandals at former President Uribe, why which is understandable to overlook it as he exalts.

And when justice is lost in investigations "comprehensive" never concluded because again fall into the networks of impunity, which is over 96%, given the powerful interests from the state itself is stimulated, when judging their amigazos it, and meanwhile the poor, affected by such insane acts, are increasingly less justice and join the long list of victims of an indolent and irresponsible state that only know how to care and care for their petty interests.

In Colombia alone there will be justice when the same people who exercise, which requires a sustained and determined struggle against those in power today.

AFRICAN PALM : "NOT MUCH TO BURN THE HOLY "

WEEK in the journal published an article titled "Mary raised palm down", a town in the region of Montes de Maria, center of the department of Bolivar. It shows the story of a peasant named Edilberto that came out of poverty. According to the article, through the kindness of palm cultivation of this tree, which has produced the miracle of the resurrection and made the peasants from Edilberto example, in successful entrepreneurs.

The whole plot tends to emphasize the democratic security is the holy miracle that leads to prosperity.

The resurrection is a term that refers to something died and was reborn. It makes sense to establish which was the one who died, who killed him, because he was killed as was the resurrection in this way we can have a more general context. But all this obscures the writer.

Maria La Baja, like other regions of Colombia, has undergone a change from being territory of crop and livestock production, a grower of palm monoculture cursed, as some farmers call it, thereby symbolizing the tragedy they have experienced, as the introduction of oil palm or pretext was the right business and entrepreneurial class that appropriates peasant land, submit to the families and farmers to labor exploitation, and in the case of Maria La Baja, especially a Afro-Colombian population.

Let's talk a Little of Context

According to the census of 2005, the department of Bolivar had a population of African descent close to half a million people, representing 27 percent of the total population.

Population centers where it has a notable presence black people in the department of Bolivar are Cartagena, Maria La Baja, Turbaco Cicuco, Magangué, Norosi, Arenal, San Pablo, among others.

The municipality of Maria La Baja for 2005 had a population of 43,961 inhabitants of which 97 percent were black people, black This strong descent in the population structure is important as the transformations in Maria La Baja have strong impact socio-cultural community in a tissue formed over hundreds of years, a culture rooted in other relationships with a mother earth, of social solidarity, rooted in the collective ownership and use of land.

It is important to note that a few kilometers from the township where he established the first free community of black slavery in 1616, under the leadership of Benkos Bioho, known by the name Palenque de San Basilio. This means that the region forms a socio-cultural identity.

Maria La Baja was a center of rice production, abundant crops of sugar cane, fishing was abundant large gaps because their natural breeding Bocachico bear and other fish species. In correspondence to their African culture emphasizes its spirit of noisy people, dancing and party animal. All agricultural production was based mainly on small and medium production which guaranteed food security of all people and supplied the Colombian Caribbean.

Marý the Baja, this socio economic and cultural, was one of the municipalities could not be the cultivation of coca leaf and cocaine seizure statistics is zero and the studies reported no use crops illegal. The municipality of El Carmen de Bolivar along with Maria La Baja were considered, a decade ago, the pantry's agricultural north.

Sweep the Community Fabric

Studies show that violence in the town of Marý Lower incidence of guerrilla insurgency, was marginal and did not have a territorial settlement as that developed in the rest of the Montes de Maria.

The strength of Maria La Baja lay rather in the social organizational capacity of its people with its hundreds of community processes, the tradition of struggle and mobilization of its people made jalonadores a dynamic struggle for land, for the safety of the better crops and marketing their products and ecosystem protection.

Hundreds and thousands of peasants were organized into afrosdescendientes councils, community associations, cultural groups and the recovery of their ancestral language by ethnic education.

Marý Low has been a center of insurgent operations. A study reaffirms this by stating that "48 armed actions carried out in the center and north of Bolivar, 30 had as its epicenter the municipality of Carmen de Bolivar, 15 in Cartagena and 3 in Maria La Baja. Statistics corresponding to the period between 2004 and 2008.

Given the strategic conditions of Maria La Baja, which acts as a connector between the Carmen de Bolivar and Sucre the coast, the fertile land of plains with abundant water, which according to studies by the ministry of agriculture made it suitable for growing palm, given its proximity to the sea and river port of Cartagena, was established in a territory coveted by employers of industrial fishing (shrimp) and businessman Carlos Murgas Palma, who was Minister of Agriculture when the government of Andrés Pastrana. For the purpose of converting to Maria La Baja in center of agro fuel production, based on the monoculture of palm, it was necessary to sweep the obstacles that prevented and that it was his afrosdescendiente community fabric.

The community fabric was altered, destroyed, the sense of community life was subjected to insult and was violated, community leaders suffered death, exile, and buried his happiness and joy centennial. The sound of drums and lilting rhythm that comes from inflamed hips of women, was replaced with the rattle of machine guns and the noise of the chainsaw.

Community organizations with all its cultural baggage were frightened, and the population being disbanded by fear. A study by the Ministry of Interior and Justice reported that a total of 126 African descent community social groups that existed in the department of Bolivar, there are only 3 of them in Maria La Baja, from 16 community councils there is only one department in this municipality. This in itself speaks of the great social tragedy that has brought destructive palm cultivation.

Everything changed with the arrival of the paramilitaries

With the arrival of the paramilitaries change the thing. He moved the curfew. The neighbors lost the good habit of talking at night in the town streets, in the light of a lock sharing the news of the day, the story made popular storytelling, take a coffee with bright white smile. The region came the prohibition of walking the streets after 9 pm. And the paramilitaries replaced civil authority and police complicity, to support his authority killed many people and patrolled the streets.

The numbers of paramilitary terror in memory of a population that had nothing, except that their lands were coveted by the palm oil companies. Let your community resistance barrier was to be destroyed to make possible partnerships between black farmers and a handful of entrepreneurs. Security to investors was the first foundation and it was necessary to pacify the conscience of the population. 20 percent of the population, approximately 12 000 people were exiled from their land, their small peasant economy. And those who were dispossessed were forced to articulate the economic mode imposed from the ministry of agriculture czar Carlos Murgas palm.

According to investigations conducted by UNHCR, during the time period between 2004 and 2008 is estimated to have been sold about 20 thousand hectares of land at prices ranging from a million and a million and a half each hectare. People fled and soil was exposed, prices plummeted. Sales are widespread. Those who enjoyed the protection or paramilitary forces made their fortunes and land ownership was changing and was preparing the ground for all new land uses and new forms of tenure.

Productive Partnerships.... ¿ for Whom?

The general scheme of the partnership is not so simple. The small to medium producer, provides land and labor that involves the whole family. The partner who is the employer supplies the seed, fertilizer, and everything you need. All investment is deducted from the sale of fruit and are divided according to the percentage gain. The farmer receives all on loan and if you can afford to lose the land is the collateral for the loan. In Cartagena still coming peasants off the land or those who remain do so as laborers.

The real winner of this whole business is Murgas who owns little land cultivated palm but it handles all the threads of business, a monopoly established by the Government and alcahueteado. They are not happy winners farmers as shown in the article of the week, a fallacy to sell this model of exploitation of the peasants and democratic prosperity. The business is ideal for the entrepreneur: no work obligations because workers are members.

In Maria La Baja dominated alliances between big business and small farmers. It is estimated that more than 5 000 hectares planted with palm, fruit of the work of 490 small and medium producers who grow an average 7 acres and a half for each family of producers. There are three or four properties belonging to two or three employers. The total direct employment generated by this economy palm monoculture is at approximately 800 and approximately 2 000 indirect jobs. Most of these jobs are directly and indirectly through associated work cooperatives, which are part mostly demobilized paramilitaries, or is an employment and security, population control paramilitary organization.

Not everything is as good as it looks from the article this week, who swells palm cultivation and attributed miraculous qualities to the entire population. Round and food insecurity in the region began to appear and environmental problems as well. Show as progress the fact that Edilberto bought a house and no longer lives leaning, thanks to their savings achievement become a dentist, is simply ignoring that housing and health is a right for all, which has become a privilege for the few.

Author: R. Vargas

TLC: CHECK FOR THE GRINGO MILITARY SUPPORT

The Free Trade Agreement (FTA) signed between the government of Colombia and the United States in November 2006 and ratified by the U.S. Congress in October 2011, came into effect on May 15.

The government and powerful business groups saturate the country with explanations, highlighting the benefits that this treaty will bring to the Colombians, seeking with lies and half truths that hide the losses that were pointed out by numerous critics. From where you look is disadvantageous for the majority of Colombians and the country's own development, beneficial only for big business, multinationals and the economy of the northern colossus.

The most sensible explanation of why the ruling elite FTA signed a disadvantage, ignoring well-founded criticism of scholars and defenders of national interests, is that it took into account the benefit of a small group of capitalists linked to foreign capital and pay the support political and military that the U.S. government gives the Colombian oligarchy.

There are many valid and the reasons given by those opposed to NAFTA, they agree that the government did no interest in doing the preliminary studies necessary to establish clearly the benefits to be irrigated in the country, and the damage it would cause and economic sectors.

The government and its negotiators were deaf and blind to the warnings and economic reasons advanced by the opponents, because the essence of the FTA is another, fundamentally political in nature and purpose it was already agreed. The signing is part of the mechanism and method of payment agreed by the support it receives from the United States, to prevent the winds that blow across the continent, arriving in the country and produce the changes that the people have been demanding.

In this sense, President Obama was clear in one of the interventions in which he referred to the FTA with Colombia, saying it "sees in him not only a tool for economic recovery at home, but also a key to its strategy geopolitics in the region."

The TLC from the economic point of view is detrimental to the Colombian sovereign development. Continue to deepen the process of de-industrialization and "de-agriculturization" in the country comes as a result of the implementation of neoliberal policies.

The small, medium industries that have not been modernized end ruined, so will the rural producers who are not part of mega agro industrial projects, with serious damage to food security.

In the last ten years Colombia is importing products previously supplied with domestic consumption and exporting some, like wheat, rice, corn, fish, meat, potatoes, beans and even coffee.

The inconvenience of greater weight has to do with the asymmetry between the two economies. The Colombian has no capacity and favorable conditions to compete with the United States is powerful, customs system are not adequate to reduce costs to the goods.

The International Trade Commission U.S., making the defense of the FTA with Colombia, has recognized the many benefits it has on other aspects that are not strictly commercial exports of their goods increase by more than 1,100 million U.S. annually, that for every U.S. 1,000 million of additional exports of goods, will generate 6,000 new jobs. Also estimated to grow Colombian exports 487 million U.S.

Instead advocates say Colombia FTA will increase U.S. exports 1,700 million and generate additional 380 000 new jobs. President Santos goes further and says it will create 500 000 new jobs, does not say how long and in what sectors.

If the gringos for every U.S. 1,000 million generated 6 000 new jobs. So how is that to U.S. 1,700 million increase in exports, generate 500 thousand new jobs reported by the government? The popular adage says that "the easier it falls a liar, a cripple."

equipped with modern technology, optimal infrastructure for export and provides support with subsidies to producers of low competitiveness in the international market.

Instead the Colombian economy is technologically backward relative to the U.S., the industrial restructuring to modernize business is progressing slowly, the road infrastructure, ports and

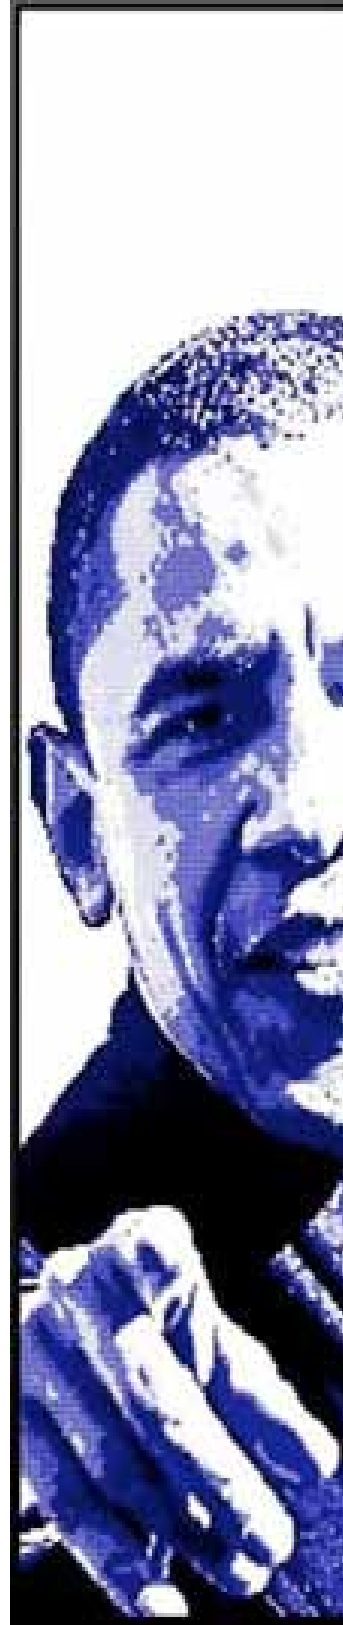

How will occur in employment growth, if the small and medium enterprises that generate employment for 63% and 45% in manufacturing output in the country, if it is expected that they will be ruined before the competition advantageous gringo?. Not daring to say, to be produced instead a rise in unemployment.

The Colombian economy is not able to compete with the gringo economy in terms of quality of products and mainly on price, due inter alia to the productivity of which is well above the country. Competing with some gringo products on the market is only possible at present, degrading working conditions and reducing the wages of workers, as has been done.

It is within this logic must be understood, as state policy, the offensive pressure to reduce labor by improving wages and working conditions, union leaders removing, destroying the unions and labor contracts. This form of work organization are being replaced by the form of temporary work, service contractors cooperatives and collective labor agreements.

The same policy explains the implementation of the paramilitaries as the spearhead of the counter-agrarian reform imposed by fire and sword, with tens of thousands of peasants killed and missing, five and a half million displaced and the displacement of more than six million hectares of land, many of them turned into mega industrial projects and in the Urabá and Chocó, Magdalena, Catatumbo, Cesar and departments of the Atlantic, among others.

The struggle against the FTA becomes a permanent task for action and mobilization, to the Colombians, and involves studies to track the economic judgments that will occur, further research into the reasons underlying policy and the effects it has on the country, holding high the banner of national sovereignty and the struggle for the changes the country needs for the people to be masters of their destiny and collective welfare.

Author: Milton Hernandez International Front

The Imperial Centurion came to our lands and reviewed in Chile and Colombia. In Brazil where the U.S. is seen as a rich country by the Foreign Ministry and as a threat by the military imperialist nationalists presented with kid gloves.

Paneta Leon has a resume of terror. Intelligence officer for the first time in 1964, culminating his career as chief agent of the CIA before going on to head the Pentagon or as it says in the Yankee slang, Secretary of Defense. His appointment was approved with 100 votes possible by the millionaires club that is the Senate gringo. This makes it the sixth largest in the chain of command of the empire.

In his life he was Congressman, presidential chief of staff and now Clinton is an expert in the use of unmanned aircraft (drones), Seal special operations in global geopolitical imperialism. It is the determiner of the crimes which it may commit the imperial government anywhere in the world (this includes China, Iran, Syria, Lebanon, Colombia, etc). as indicated in a nutshell, the findings document the National Defense Strategy of the United States filed in February 2012 by Paneta: "The United States faces profound challenges that require military forces strong, agile, and able, whose actions blend with other elements of U.S. national power (...) with the national interests anywhere in the world. "

Translating, where is the oil or natural resources (national power) we need, we are on them (military strong, agile, and able) and you do not want it torn apart.

The Pakistani and Afghan people are clear about the criminal essence of the Lord of the Drones who came to South America to confirm where the military hegemony of the world.

According to the Brookings Institution, for every militant killed in Pakistan drone, 10 civilians are killed. The Seal operation that ended the life of Osama Bin Laden in his Pakistan refuge, bears his signature.

In times of Fourth Generation War, talks about multiple enemies Paneta blurred, elusive, irregular. Attempts to capture in China or Iran, but can not do enough talking about Taliban, AlQuaeda, Hezbollah, Anonymous, drug traffickers, terrorists, any human being on earth can be the number 1 enemy of the United States. There is no specific enemy, no margins.

In Colombia it reviews the vulture Paneta

On April 23, landed in the second largest recipient of lethal aid in the world, by their government. Colombia is one of the closest partners snapped hugging the Paneta Mr. Finch that obsequious armed yuppie took him touring the country.

He justified his visit to Colombia in strengthening the fight against drugs and "terrorism" two misguided policies that have filled with blood and suffering pain the Colombian people. Plan Colombia continues, "collaboration" military expands, the Black Hawk helicopters come, new agreements demonstrate the possibility that the Colombian Armed Forces to participate outside national borders in operations of "stability" were signed, while criticizing the increasing armament of Venezuela and its relationship with Iran.

€. States. has made Colombia the country with the largest army in the region, equipped with all the latest military technology. And in Colombia there are 25 bases in the presence of military advisers and American mercenaries and are adjusting to 7 of them, that the Pentagon can perform major war-mongers and continental scale. In addition, military agreements between the two governments, allows the Yankees have all the airports, ports, roads and throughout Colombia to move U.S. troops and military equipment.

Another agenda in Chile

The vulture Paneta came to Chile in Piñeira amid student protests and the inauguration of a training center in urban warfare. With the beautiful name of Personal Training Center for Peace Missions in Urban Centers, sponsored by the Southern Command humanitarian, has a set of eight buildings for training in command tactical actions of urban combat. A new base is presented as camouflaged training center of United Nations Blue helmets and has received the unanimous rejection of all democratic forces in the country.

Paneta went to Chile to deepen the close ties between the army and government, with President Yankee. Reaffirm the presence in the Southern Cone and to Antarctica. Paneta stimulates and his new best friend in the South. Now mounted on the mask support humanitarian crises by emergencies and natural disasters (earthquakes, tsunamis, etc), the beautiful face of the empire is shown at a public policy in full swing.

The world Power it receives

On reaching the South American giant, Paneta said some of the new face in strategic Yankee imperialism was this February: multilateralism. For joy of Brazilian greatness Paneta said: "Brazil is a global power, a positive force for stability not only in America, but worldwide." Accomplishing the agreement between Obama and Rousseff to build a swap for Security and Defence. They discussed business figures of hundreds of millions of dollars. Boeing and Embraer aircraft purchases, technology transfer and other trifles.

Paneta and FOL

The dislocation of overt and covert military imperial Nuestra América presents naked Paneta journey. Open and brazen in Colombia, the presidential guards looked like coming to a giant brothel where all guns with dollars and is available even knowing that they will not pay.

In Chile, as in Argentina, Paraguay and (ay) small stations Uruguay humanitarian become the next FOL, if the peoples and governments do not react.

A Uruguayan commands, SEAL forces (those killed Osama) of being trained, who knows against whom, at present, in the sacred land of Artigas.

In Argentina in the Chaco, near the Triple Frontier, opens an office for the Program for Strengthening the Provincial Emergency', sponsored by the South Command. They are small buds that will become FOL or CSL worms over time.

Argentina maintains the International Programs for Military Education and Training, Border Security and Export Control and Anti-Terrorism Assistance, with the military Paneta leading Yankees.

In a continent where the trend is unstoppable integration, building a common Defense Council, with doctrine and collective ways, even where a military spending and others are known and transparent, could not be more impertinent visit this imperial vulture. Obama envoy Paneta emperor, came to hear what he wanted and why he went to Colombia and Chile. In Brazil understand a little where the water goes to the mill.

Paneta and his entourage of officials are working hard to make the imperial command and control is not lost. Deepen in us is launched by the Big Country.

Edition No.321
May/21/2012

INSURRECTION MAGAZINE

